PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—A 17-year-old telephone operator, Josephine Howard, was mysteriously shot to death early today while walking with a student of the University of Pennsylvania in the city streets.

The girl and her friend were passing Eighteenth and Cherry streets when the assassin leaped from a scaffolding in front of a residence and fired twice from a revolver. The shots came from such close range that the girl's clothing caught fire.

Newbold, according to Belshaw, head of the detective bureau "murder squad," is missing. Policemen surrounded his home waiting for him.

Miss Howard was returning from a dance with James Sullivan, a University of Pennsylvania student. Dazed by the reports and the girl falling to the sidewalk by his side, Sullivan turned in time to see the murderer fleeing. Two men, strolling on the other side of the street, saw the man who shot the girl. The slayer ran so swiftly he outdistanced them. Sullivan returned and carried the girl to a hospital across the street from the corner where she was killed.

He was arrested as a material witness.

LONDON, May 28.—A British army, stronger numerically and better trained and equipped than Kitchener's "first hundred thousand" in the great war, will be in Ireland before the new week is flying along.

Partial publication of these plans which called for a redoubling of the present strength of the British army in Ireland, which is 58,000, was a sensation of the day here and was expected to create an even bigger sensation throughout Ireland when it became known.

WILL MARK TROCH IN IRISH PROBLEM.
Coming on the heels of the Uster election which, though a gaffe, gave Valera and other Sinn Fein chiefs seats in the Uster parliament, was generally interpreted as a Sinn Fein defeat.

The fear was almost universal that it will be a new epoch of turbulence for the Irish Republicans have just shown by the capture of the black and tans in Dublin and other parts of Ireland that they are determined to fight back with every ounce of counter aggression they can muster.

Despatches from Ireland were consequently awaited with eagerness to learn of the progress of the war in official quarters and that fraught with the possibility of a new epoch of turbulence.

Air Mail Rushes Tribune to U. C. Athletes in East

RUSHED across the continent by air mail, two bundles of The OAKLAND TRIBUNE, issue of May 25, destined to the University of California track team at Cambridge, Mass., and the varsity crew at Princeton, N. J., which left San Francisco at 6:50 o'clock in the morning, May 26, arrived at their destinations some time yesterday afternoon, May 27, according to a telegram received by The TRIBUNE early today from A. B. (Brick) Muller, track captain, and Harold (Brick) Muller, field star of the California aggregation.

In less than thirty-six hours, members of the track team and varsity crew were reading the Home Edition of The OAKLAND TRIBUNE of May 25. Perhaps never before have Oakland residents in the east read editions of their home paper in such a short time following their publication.

Delivery of the papers to the California boys in the east was made possible through the courtesy of Postmaster Joseph J. Roshborough and C. F. West, superintendent of mails, who arranged so that the bundles could go by direct airplane service to their eastern destinations.

Contained in the particular edition of The TRIBUNE sent east was an article telling of the confidence Californians had in the victory the western athletes would capture.

According to C. F. West, superintendent of mails in Oakland, time in delivering the two packages of papers is the fastest yet made by any mail sent through the government aerial service. No definite time can be found as to what hour the bundles actually arrived, but they did arrive before midnight Friday, according to the telegram sent by Sprott and Muller.

Eddie Rickenbacher, American hero, took to the air at 1:30 a. m. today on the fourth leg of his flight from Redwood City, Cal., to Washington.

He left the Cheekboard flying field in an army plane from Rantoul field piloted by Lieutenant Woodbridge.

Rickenbacher will fly from Chicago to Dayton, Ohio, where he will land and transfer to another plane for the final stage of his flight to Washington. He expected to reach the national capital by 3 o'clock this afternoon. En route from Omaha to Chicago, late yesterday, Rickenbacher snatched a few hours of sleep in the cockpit of the mail plane piloted by William C. Hopson.

By Capt. EDDIE RICKENBACHER.
(Written for the United Press.)
CHICAGO, May 28.—I certainly enjoyed the chance to get a good sleep in Chicago last night. When I arrived here Friday night with Lieutenant William Hopson, I had slept less than five hours since starting out from Redwood City, Cal.

I am going through by airplane despite the hard luck which I had when my machine was damaged at Elyria. Brigadier General William Mitchell of the United States air service, placed a plane at my disposal here. I expect to make Dayton by 10:30 a. m. With fair weather and no difficulty, I should arrive in Washington about 2 p. m., completing the trip.

It was a pleasant trip in from Omaha yesterday afternoon. Lieut. Hopson is a careful pilot, but was a good, fast ride. Hopson flies fast and safe. He is the ace of mail pilots I do know.

And we left Iowa City, with nothing to do but sit in the cockpit. The air made me kind of sleepy and I dozed most of the way to Chicago. It is mighty difficult to get a sound sleep in an airplane, though, especially if you are used to handling one.

JAPANESE ENVOY SAYS HIS NATION WANTS DISARMING

Leader of Statesmen Visiting U. S. Asserts Nippon Would Keep Peace.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—That Japan is both willing and anxious to accept the provisions of a disarmament program in England and the United States take the first step in that direction, was intimated by Rokusaburo Nakanishi, who is heading the party of Japanese statesmen now touring the states, and who based his assertion on what he declares is the real temper of the Japanese people.

Nakanishi, who represents the Japanese government, is a party talking along the above lines at a luncheon at the Hotel St. Francis yesterday. The luncheon was given in honor of the visiting Japanese statesmen by the Japanese consular general to the United States.

DESIROUS OF PEACE.

The speaker declared that, while Japan is desirous of peace, force of circumstances compels her to keep pace with other nations in the matter of armament. He stated that the Japanese people are over-burdened with taxation and that they want peace in spite of the far-reaching army and navy building program. He said that Japan must, in order to keep her place as a first-class nation, keep pace with America and England in her army and navy program. He added that he believed that international difficulties will disappear if the people of America come to sympathize with and appreciate the problems of the Japanese.

He said that while there is an element in Japan that insists that Japan must lead the way to disarmament, the Japanese dare not follow those plans, as she is on the weaker side and must be very cautious.

ASKS U. S. TO LEAD.

"But I speak the real temper of my country," he concluded, "when I say that she will be glad to join the leaders if they really wish to disarm. Disarmament is the real desire of Japan, in spite of the paradoxical building a greater navy."

President Wallace M. Alexander of the Chamber of Commerce, responded to Nakanishi's speech, by declaring he shared the disarmament wish of Nakanishi, stating that England and the United States, as well as Japan, should reach an agreement limiting the number of battleships to be built.

Naota Kumagai, another member of the mission, said, "In our western civilization we recognize the United States as the father and Japan as the son. The son is sometimes self-assertive as a child must be, but our wish is that the United States, the father, take Japan as his foster son and lead him along the paths of liberty."

Other talks were made by Takao Takaoka, another of the visitors, Edward Rainey, secretary to Mayor James Rolph, and Consul General Yokoi.

The Japanese committee left for Sacramento today for a visit in that city, Florin, Marysville, Stockton and other points in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. The party will go to Marysville tomorrow.

RANCHER SUED BY GIRL FOR $100,000

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Hearst claim in the sum of $100,000 is asked in a suit filed by Miss Leopoldina O. Olin of Lenore, through her attorney, Louis Gonsalves, in which it is stated that Miss Olin was defrauded into living as the wife of A. S. Nunes millionaire with land holdings in Lenore, Hanford and San Leandro. It is stated in the complaint, which was filed yesterday, that Miss Olin lived with Nunes for three years after having signed an agreement which she supposed was a legal marriage contract.

According to the customs of Portugal, her native country, she declared, a civil marriage always took place before a church ceremony. She stated that whenever she pleaded for a church ceremony Nunes told her that J. C. Russell, before whom she signed the "marriage" document at Hanford, was the "lawyer priest of the court."

On learning, May 1, last, that she was not the legal wife of Nunes, she instituted proceedings against him.

Nunes is said to be one of the richest ranchers in California. The contract signed by Miss Olin provided that she cook and do housework for Nunes for $25 a month. It also provided that she receive $100 from Nunes' estate upon his death.

Another chapter in the sensational career of Burroughs McGraw, 17-year-old "master penman," will be written today when Detective Dave Murphy of the San Francisco banking detail goes to Stockton to return McGraw to San Francisco to answer charges of passing forged checks. Three Oakland banks, four San Francisco banks, three Sacramento banks, one San Jose bank and one Fresno bank are included in the list of financial institutions said to have been victimized by McGraw.

Love affairs with two comely young women, one in San Francisco and one in Stockton, are said to have played an important part in McGraw's undoing. It was through his love letters to one of these girls, who is named, that the police discovered that McGraw was in Stockton. Although supposed to be a check forger, McGraw was arrested by Detective Murphy, who was in Stockton on a mission to return McGraw to San Francisco to answer charges of passing forged checks.

A total of about $2500 is said to have been netted by McGraw from his various alleged forgeries. McGraw, who was sent to the Preston Reform school, following his trial for bad check operations in Los Angeles, is a parole violator from that institution. It is said that McGraw will probably be sent back to the reform school until he reaches his majority.

First Chapter of Mission Story Rouses Interest

GREAT interest was aroused by the first installment of John Augustine Cull's book, "The Bridge of Mission," which appeared in the OAKLAND TRIBUNE last Sunday. More chapters will be published tomorrow. Dr. Cull offers the following references in response to questions about reading along the lines indicated by the story: "Sixty Years in California," by William Heath Davis; a book now out of print, but to be found in the public libraries. Bancroft's Works, Volumes 19, 20, 21. "History of California," Volume 2, by Theodore H. Hittell. "Two Years Before the Mast," by Richard Henry Dana.

$2300 LOOT IN BAKERY HOLDUP

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—A bandit evidently familiar with the fact that a large amount of money was on the premises, held up Mrs. Agnes Simpson in her bakery, 528 Laguna street, last night. The robber, who was armed with a revolver, escaped with $2300 in currency. Detectives and police officers searched the neighborhood early today, but they are without any new as to the identity of the culprit.

Charles Simpson, husband of the woman, and Joseph Bernal were taking in the basement when the robber appeared shortly before midnight. He asked for some doughnuts and as Mrs. Simpson turned to get them, he placed a revolver against her back and forced her into the closet. He threatened the woman with death if she screamed. Mrs. Simpson remained silent a few moments and then began to kick and pound the floor.

When her husband and Bernal rescued her they found that the $2300 which had been in a canvas bag on a table was gone. The table was in the living room adjoining the bakery. The police investigation today disclosed that the telephone wires had been cut and probably prepared for the crime.

KEY ROUTE TELLS PLAN FOR BUSES TO RAIL BOARD

Opening Sale To-day Tomorrow and Monday

"I've been watching this property for eight years--waiting until I could have my home here," said one of last Sunday's visitors to Montclair. Hundreds of others have driven along the Moraga Road, admired the rolling, wooded stretches of Montclair on either side and said, "Some day Oakland Homes will cover these hills."

That time has come. This beautiful 2,500-acre portion of the old Peralta grant, after being held by us for 25 years, until Oakland was ready to sell it, is now offered to the public in a big three-day sale. Come out and see this property that has been held intact because of its great natural beauty from Spanish days until now. Montclair is the largest body of undeveloped high-class residence property within the city limits of any American city. Just east of Piedmont, and of similar quality, this beautiful section goes on the market at very low prices, and with exceptional terms.

Half-Acre Homesite $500 to $2000 $50 down--Small Monthly Payments

No interest or taxes until July 1, 1922

Include a trip to Montclair in your week-end holiday plans. You can drive out in 11 minutes from the City Hall, or in 18 minutes by the Piedmont Avenue car and bus extension. Allow 41 minutes from the Ferry Building. Transportation has brought Montclair closer to both San Francisco and Oakland business centers than are Berkeley and Alameda. See this wonderful new residence section that gives you every advantage of a country estate—a large homesite, trees, views, fresh air, room for garden, and yet is within easy access of city activities. Come out early in the sale so that you may have your choice of these many homesites.

MONTCLAIR

is not only a delightful place in which to build the home of your dreams. It is a rare investment opportunity. Should you never build your Montclair estate will increase in value as the subdivision is built up. In Piedmont and Claremont, the adjoining sections, property is now bringing $60 a front foot. If you had bought an acre in either district when it was opened would you not be richer today? You have the opportunity to buy in Montclair at opening sale prices. Come, look it over, and you will see that Montclair will be an even better buy than Piedmont because nothing smaller than a half acre is being sold, and large homesites mean a finer district.

Improvements

For two years we have been improving Montclair. It has been laid out by the best landscape engineers. Ten miles of oil macadam roads, now being completed, have been placed so as to preserve the natural beauty. Water, electricity, oil macadam roads and transportation are yours. Building restrictions of $3500 to $10,000, depending upon location, insure you against undesirable structures. A twenty-acre section has been set aside for a business center.

Transportation

Last week transportation was added to Montclair in the form of a bus line extension to the Piedmont Avenue car line and Key Route. 22-passenger buses are now operated by the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways to connect with trains at Piedmont and 40th, making Montclair only a 6c trip from 14th and Broadway. Montclair is also on the San Francisco-Sacramento Railway, which affords a second 41-minute connection with San Francisco.

Let us show you over Montclair Sunday or Monday. You'll say we have not praised it half enough.

Only in Sunday's Edition of Oakland Tribune Will These Features Appear

Notwithstanding the serious problems that are confronting the nation, Britons are lighthearted, and live up to the motto, "eat, drink, and be merry," says George H. Barnes, former member of the British war cabinet, in his cable to THE TRIBUNE today. He lauds President Harding for his opposition to secret diplomacy and believes that nations in their dealings must affect the world should place their cards on the table. Barnes says that the Irish situation shows signs of improvement, although the strike of miners is assuming a brighter aspect.

Maximilian Harden, famous publisher of Berlin, deprecates the attitude of the United States in the Russian controversy. He insists that this country is vitally affected by the situation and should take a hand in the settlement of the problem. Therefore, he suggests that Ambassador Harvey should be more than a silent listener at sessions of the allied supreme council. He makes a plea that the people rather than products receive the highest consideration.

Andre Tardieu, former French commissioner to America, speaking at the French pavilion, says that France demands her full rights under the Versailles treaty. That nation is incensed at the attitude and policy of Lloyd George in the Russian matter. He says that England and France must get together and adjust their misunderstandings.

The American tourist is dismayed at economic conditions in France, says William Bird, cabling from Paris. Prices are sky high and French paper money expensive. Women's hats, the very cheapest, cost $200, while a room, without bath, cannot be had for less than $8 a day.

Harden Colfax gives figures showing that it cost $8,500,000,000 to govern the people of the United States during the past fiscal year. The total income of the people during that period was approximately $64,000,000,000.

How to make farming pay, is a problem that is now confronting present administration at Washington, says Ralph Barton. It is proposed to provide federal help in the way of better highways and other facilities for reaching markets, adjusting rates and giving farmers the benefit of scientific experiments.

Robert T. Small, political writer, says that President Harding is seeking means to afford quick relief to the farming interests of the country. He believes that America's vast money resources, properly placed, can bring prosperity to the rural districts and stimulate conditions throughout the nation.

Elizabeth Kink Stokes says that Mrs. Harding has shaken hands with tens of thousands of persons since she came to Washington. No other woman in the White House has performed such a strenuous feat.

Sjarrow McGann has been taking in the training camps of the two big fellows who are to meet at Jersey City in July. He says fight fans who have seen both men declare that Carpenter is too light and that Dempsey will tear him to pieces. They predict that the fight will not last more than three rounds. McGann, however, says that the Frenchman is built like a real fighter and he dances about the ring like an antelope. He thinks the contest is going to be a real battle. Walter Camp comments on the golf tournament at Hoylake and George Chadwick tells of trades and purchases of pitchers in the big baseball leagues.

Stuart P. West, Wall Street expert, says that the commercial and financial situation is getting back to normal. Foreign nations are recovering and preparing to pay their war debts. The excellent showing of the railroads is commented on and he says that there is no reason to fear rumors of reducing or passing dividends by industrial companies.

Robert C. Benchley, associate editor of Life, has a humorous description of the recent golf tournament at Hoylake.

Memorial Day Set Aside To Honor Dead of Civil War

Decoration Day was the subject of several queries that came into THE TRIBUNE Information Bureau today. One of THE TRIBUNE readers writes in to ask:

"Will you give a brief outline of the purpose, origin, etc., of Decoration Day?"

Decoration Day, or Memorial Day, is set aside as a legal holiday in all the states with the exception of Texas and Idaho, to honor the memory of the soldiers that fell in the Civil War, on which day it is customary to decorate their graves. May 30 is the day set aside in the northern and western states and in Virginia. April 26 is the day observed in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Florida; May 10 in North Carolina and South Carolina; the second Friday in May in Tennessee and June 3 in Louisiana.

Another question along the same line was:

"In what manner is the flag raised as part of the ceremonial observance of Memorial Day?"

On Memorial Day, May 30, the flag should fly at half staff from sunrise till noon and full staff from noon to sunset.

Still another query appropriate to the day came in, this time from a Berkeley reader:

"How many guns are fired in the salute to the national flag?"

The national salute and the salute to the national flag is 21 guns.

THE TRIBUNE'S Information Department will answer all queries of a general nature except legal and school questions, debates, firm and trade names and queries as to the time of day.

If replies are desired by mail stamps for return postage must be enclosed.

If you are looking for general information, "ask THE TRIBUNE," Information Department, Lakeside 6000.

Havana Aims Blow At Rent Profiteer

HAVANA, Cuba, May 28.—Bitter complaints are being made here against rent profiteering. Attacks are made almost daily in the newspapers on profiteering landlords. Numerous cases of three-room apartments for which $150 a month is demanded, with one month's rent in advance and two months' rent as deposit, are cited.

One relief project being considered for submission to the city council, provides for the appropriation of $1,000,000 yearly for a number of years to construct four-room homes for the poorer people at a cost of about $3,000 each.

By selling these homes on a partial payment plan, it is declared that the proceeds, turned into the construction of more homes, would soon solve the housing problem and, incidentally, eliminate the rent profiteer.

I. W. W. Band Tries to Capture Train

DENVER, May 28.—Twenty-seven alleged members of the I. W. W. were placed in jail here tonight after they had attempted to commandeer a Union Pacific freight train and run it to Denver from Cheyenne, Wyo., according to the police.

A squad of 22 policemen met the train outside of the city when they received a report that the alleged I. W. W. were on it.

At police headquarters several of the men said they had formed a gang outside Cheyenne and decided they could travel better if they stayed together. They said they were not going anywhere in particular, but were "headed south."

The men said they had been driven out of Cheyenne. Charges of vagrancy were placed against them.

ALAMEDA ACRES are absolutely the best buy in the entire bay region. This magnificent property lies in the heart of the rapidly growing East Bay community.

In addition to these "Little Farms in the city" we are offering a limited amount of water frontage at ridiculously low prices on the entrance to San Leandro Bay. This water front property is the extension of the great Oakland Harbor.

ALAMEDA ACRES are within easy commuting distance of all the industrial and manufacturing plants on San Francisco Bay. Here you can buy an acre within a few hundred yards of Alameda's finest residential district—an acre that will produce three or four crops of vegetables each year.

ALAMEDA ACRES possess a great potential value as industrial property.

There is no limit to the profit you may expect to realize from an investment in ALAMEDA ACRES. This property will be selling by the square foot in a few years.

Sunday Schools Prepare for Contest for The Tribune's "No Summer Slump" Banner

Here are the four judges who will award the attendance banner in The TRIBUNE's anti-summer slump contest to be waged by Eastbay Sunday Schools. They represent Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley, the three districts in which the contest will be the hottest. From left to right they are HAROLD F. POST, REV. EARL COCHRAN, REV. C. G. PRICE and REV. F. M. MORRISON (lower right).

Award Will Be Made on the Percentage of Gain in Attendance in Warm Months

Sunday schools throughout the Eastbay are making preparation to wage an effective warfare against any "slump" in attendance this summer. Under the slogan "We Knew the battle lines will be hung out, and each Sunday school of each denomination from Alameda to Northbrae, will engage in an intensive campaign to win the banner, made by the girls in the advertising department of the Oakland TRIBUNE and offered by The TRIBUNE to the school which shows the greatest per cent of increase in attendance between June 19, and September 1, 1921.

Last year the banner was made by the girls and the first attendance contest was waged from June to September, and resulted in the banner being won by the Sunday school of the Church of the Nazarene, Bancroft Way and McKinley street, Berkeley.

The rules of the contest make it possible for any Sunday school to win the banner, provided its teachers, officers and pupils possess the required amount of initiative, and desire. The smallest Sunday school has an equal chance with the largest for the rules say that the banner shall be awarded to the Sunday school showing the greatest percentage of increase.

Another feature about the contest is that the banner does not remain a permanent fixture in any Sunday school unless that Sunday school wins the contest. The banner is a loan, and makes it incumbent upon the winner of last year's contest to get out and workwork again this year. There will be no resting on past laurels in the "anti-slump" campaign.

Letters are being sent out this week to Sunday schools throughout the district. To make the contest a success, it is necessary that all Sunday schools take part.

The TRIBUNE has made arrangements for the four judges who are to make the final decision in the hot contest which is sure to take place. They are: Rev. Earl Cochran, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Alameda; Harold F. Post, International Sunday school worker, Rev. C. G. Price, pastor of University Christian church, Berkeley, and Rev. F. M. Morrison, assistant pastor of the First Congregational church, Oakland.

COUNTY DIVISION MENACE DECLARED BUSINESS INJURY

Optimists' Club Hear Address
On Danger Lurking in the Alternative Plan.

County division was declared a menace to the business interests of the city and bad policy when viewed in the light of the commercial development of Oakland in an address by Joseph R. Knowland before the Oakland Optimists' club yesterday.

The Optimists met in Hotel Oakland, heard a musical program in which C. R. Corman sang with the Simonson as accompanist, and then listened to an address on the alternative proposal by Joseph R. Knowland.

The question as to how those who oppose a division of the county should vote, the reply was that with the menace of county division those who opposed the dividing of the county into three or four separate units unfortunately could not consider the main character on its merits and, to avoid division, would vote against it. So also would those who, like Berkeley, have in mind a separate city and county government.

ALTERNATIVE EXPLAINED. Knowland in his address, said in part:

"There is no opposition to the submission of a consolidation plan which embraces the entire county nor would there be any opposition to the submission of the alternative if it included no less an area than is included in the three contiguous cities bordering on the bay, Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda."

Under the unfortunate wording of the law, a fatal defect which everyone now admits, was not discovered until after the proceedings had commenced, a situation which would mean that Berkeley and Alameda would be deprived from voting on the alternative, unless they supported the proposition for the consolidation of the entire county, which is an entirely different proposition. Berkeley would be compelled to go ahead with a city and county of Oakland and then the door would be open for a city and county of Berkeley, a city and county of Alameda city, and a separate county for the balance of the up-county.

MENACE OF DIVISION. "Such a division would forever destroy the chances for a real consolidation of the entire county, which is each year growing together as population increases. When once we divide we can never get back this other section into a great big consolidation of all. We would be in the predicament of San Francisco when it broke away from San Mateo. With constitutional amendments and elections San Francisco has been trying in vain ever since to get back the separated county."

"County division would be detrimental to the business interests of Oakland. It would destroy the ties that bind the rest of the community to the chief city. Already there is a feeling of resentment in the outside communities. It is bad policy when looked at from the standpoint of the commercial development of Oakland."

In the conclusion of the address S. M. Friedman, chairman of the day, declared that the club had been enlightened on a situation that would be perplexing and that it would take heed.

Electric Rates' Cut Held City's Victory

The decision of the State Railroad Commission yesterday reducing the charges on electric rates was a big victory for the city of Oakland, according to Assistant City Attorney Leon Gray, and means that the consumer will have some money coming. The reduced rate is retroactive from April 10.

On April 10 the original surcharge of 15 per cent was reduced. The electric companies were allowed to charge 10 per cent. The decision as to what the rate would be. Yesterday it was decided to be 6 per cent. The other 4 per cent is returned if collected since April 10.

FOUR DOCTORS GAVE HER UP

Through a Neighbor's Advice This Woman Was Restored to Health
by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kenosha, Wis.—"I suffered with a female trouble and at last was in bed for six weeks with what the doctors called inflammation of the bowels. Four of them said I could not live. A neighbor told me to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me from the start. When the doctor came I told him what I had taken and he said 'This medicine aided and kept on with the Pinkham medicine.' I did and it cured me. If more women would take your medicine they would not suffer from the same troubles. I have recommended the Pinkham Compound to lots of people and they have been satisfied." Mrs. MARY BRADFORD, 270 Wisconsin St., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

When a woman is beset with such symptoms as irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, a displacement, backache, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness or the "bines" she should treat the cause of such conditions by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN

August to Be Month Of Weddings

The first week in August Miss Kathryn Crellin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Arthur Crellin of the Hotel Oakland, will become the bride of Dr. Lloyd Robertson Reynolds of Lane Hospital. Miss Crellin, who since the war has continued her course of training at Lane Hospital, began during that period, will return next month to the Eastbay to join her parents at the Hotel Oakland, spending the summer season with them until her marriage. Wedding plans will be completed later.

Mrs. Edward Warren Currier has sent out cards for an afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at her home on Broadway street, San Francisco, when there will be two guests of honor, Miss Elizabeth Bridge, fiancée of Farnsworth Currier, and Mrs. Walter Heitman.

To thirty of her most intimate friends, Miss Helen Colley, prominent university student, revealed the news of her engagement to Haven Evans Van Housen of Hollister. The news of the betrothal came as a surprise even to her close friends who were assembled at her home recently.

Miss Colley is a member of the Alpha Xi Delta sorority at the University of California and also of the Agricultural Club and is a prominent member of the Journal of Agriculture staff. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Colley of Rand Avenue.

Van Housen is a well known horticulturist of San Benito county. He is the brother of Mrs. James Castle of Oakland.

Wilson Breaks His Silence With Memorial Day Letter

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Woodrow Wilson broke today the silence he has maintained since he retired from the White House on March 4.

In a Memorial Day letter to the editor of "The Stars and Stripes," which was published today in the soldier periodical, he declared that the American people "shall NOT be able to enjoy the full pride of the day's recollections until we have made sure that the duties that grew out of the war have been fulfilled to the utmost."

"Are we sure?" he asked. "If we are not, shall we not soon take steps to do so?" Wilson has been quoted as saying: "We shall not be happy until we have made sure that the duties that grew out of the war have been fulfilled to the utmost."

CHILD, 2, EATS POISON; TAKES IT FOR CANDY

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—The fondness of little Walter J. Redmond for candy led to the youngster's death early this morning from poisoning. Walter, 2 years old, was the son of John Redmond, a postoffice clerk of 11 Buena Vista terrace. This morning his mother, Mrs. Charlotte Redmond, was called from the dining room a moment to attend her mother, Mrs. Mary Bull, who resides in the house. She returned to find Walter standing on a chair and eating tablets from a small bottle. The poison had been kept on a shelf and had been prescribed as a stimulant for Mrs. Bull, who had been suffering from heart attacks. Realizing her child's danger, Mrs. Redmond promptly sent for doctors, who were called in the hour for an hour but were unable to save his life.

SENATE FACES BITTER FIGHT ON GRAIN GAMBLING

Capper-Tincher Bill Meets
Opposition of Board of Trade Officers.

B. J. BART CAMPBELL,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The Senate is headed for a bitter fight on the Capper-Tincher anti-grain gambling bill, consideration of which was postponed today by the Senate agriculture committee, and opposition to which by eastern senators is growing.

The measure, which was approved by Secretary of Agriculture William Taft's recent passage by the House, is being fought by the Chicago and other boards of trade, officers of which declare it would put them out of business.

The bloc of 22 Republican and Democratic senators from western and southern agricultural states has swung behind the bill, passage of which the senate predicted by Senator Capper, Republican of Kansas, one of its authors.

Senator Capper explains that the bill makes use of the taxing power of Congress to clamp a tax on grain products on the board of trade by imposing a prohibitive tax of 20 cents a bushel on all future contracts made for gambling purposes.

"While the bill does not abolish," he says, "what is known to the trade as the 'legitimate hedge,' it will absolutely destroy manipulation. It will provide for the fullest publicity for all transactions of the board of trade and directs the secretary of agriculture to make and enforce rules and regulations which will eliminate the various practices which have worked such great injustice to the producer. All these farm organizations throughout the country are for the bill."

Father Saves Invalid Daughter From Fire

Ruth Brown, 19, an invalid, was carried from a burning building at 3777 Bond street early this morning by her father, William Brown, a retired Berkeley fireman, when fire of undetermined origin, damaged a grocery store, a rooming house and the Fairfax station of the Southern Pacific company, all housed in the three-story building. Brown was carrying his daughter from the flames and smoke leaping up at the rear. By the time he reached the second floor, flames were already playing over the stairway and the halls were filled with a dense smoke. He carried his invalid daughter to safety and placed her in the care of neighbors.

The fire broke out in the rear of the building which is owned by George Marks, who also conducts the grocery store at that address. When the fire department arrived the rear of the building was aflame but by hard fighting they brought the fire under control. Damage to the building is estimated at $2000.

Work to Start Soon on U. S.-Canada Bridge

DETROIT, Mich., May 28.—The proposed suspension bridge between Detroit and Windsor, the sixth international bridge linking the United States with Canada and the third across the Detroit river, will have been completed within the next five years, in the opinion of Charles Evans Fowler, chief engineer of the project. He is a Detroit resident and a member of the Golden Bear honor society.

The bridge, Fowler said, will rank as one of the most important of those between the two nations because it will connect Ontario, the most thickly settled province of Canada, with the so-called middle western part of the United States. It will save a great number of persons than any other international bridge on the continent, Fowler said.

Present plans call for a bridge of the suspension type that will cost $10,000,000. The main span of the bridge will be 1770 feet. There will be two 23-foot roadways, two 7-foot sidewalks, two tramcar tracks, and four tracks on the lower decks for railways.

DISARMAMENT PLEAS BEFORE ALL CHURCHES

An appeal for the United States to take the initiative in calling a conference of the nations to consider a concerted plan for disarmament has been made by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, and Sunday, June 6, proposed as a special day on which ministers throughout the country should give special consideration to the subject.

Not only the Protestant churches, but also the administrative committee of the National Catholic Welfare Council, the Central Conference of American Rabbis and the United Synagogue of America are co-operating in the appeal. The Church Peace Union, in furthering the same end.

Widespread interest in the attitude of the churches has been created by the vigorous appeal made by General Tasker H. Bliss to the churches to accept their inescapable moral responsibility in creating the public opinion that will bring about disarmament in a recent letter to the Church Peace Union, he wrote.

If the clergymen of the United States want to secure a limitation of armaments, they can do it now with this appeal. It is an appeal to the conscience of the people, and it is an appeal to the conscience of the churches. THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD DECIDE.

A situation having developed in Congress in which it appears very doubtful whether legislation authorizing the establishment of the new Pacific naval base will be passed by Congress during the present special session, it is incumbent upon the federal government to say definitely whether or not it wants the tract of land people of Alameda has offered it as a free gift. On account of the very lively progress of industrial and manufacturing activities in the Eastbay district, and the extensive demand for new industrial sites, it is important to know whether the government will utilize the western water front.

This large tract of land, of over 5000 acres, was not first placed in consideration as a naval base site by the people of the Eastbay district. A commission of naval experts, created by Congress, discovered the site and asked if it was available for could be made available for the government's use. The people of Alameda voted to give it to the government free of any charge. They dedicated it to the scheme of national defense in the Pacific area.

The Helm commission of naval officers, designated Alameda as the site best adapted for a naval base on the Pacific Coast. Subsequently the special advisory board appointed by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, approved the findings of the Helm commission. The General Board of the Navy approved it. Mr. Daniels approved it, and his successor, Mr. Denby, has approved it. A joint committee from both houses of Congress, headed by Senator Ball, after a most painstaking and personal investigation of all the sites that had been considered and of the record of the naval commissions, also approved the Alameda naval base site and unanimously recommended an initial appropriation.

Now it seems, however, that, after the site has been "sold" to all the naval experts and a joint committee of Senators and Representatives from States other than California, and after Alameda city has made the magnificent gift of land valued anywhere from $25,000,000 to $100,000,000, it is necessary to "sell" the idea to two Senators from the San Francisco bay district. This is discouraging, to say the least. If the two men who are specially under the official obligation to advance the program of national defense on the Pacific Coast elect to sit silent and inactive when so vital a phase of the public interest is at stake, the case is in a bad way.

The government—that is, the Navy Department and the administration—should demand action of Congress and if a favorable response is not forthcoming, the gift of land should be returned. The Eastbay district will not be held back in its rapid march of development by the absence of a naval base. It should have opportunity to go on toward its destiny.

The sole motive that has guided the people of the Eastbay district is that of the expressed need of the government for a site for a vital unit in the scheme of Pacific defense and Pacific naval operations. The government's experts and cabinet officers have said that the need of the government for this land is vital. So the people have offered the land, proudly and patriotically. There was no expectation of profit other than that which would come through the comparative small increase in population and the consequent purchasing power. There would be commensurate obligations to meet through the establishment of the naval base. The land could be put to much more profitable use industrially.

If the government desires the land for the purposes it has described, it can still have it. But there should be an early indication to use the land for a naval base or a prompt restoration of it for private uses. Meantime new industrial activities and the general advance in the Eastbay region will proceed with unabated vigor regardless of what may be the decision of the government.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT.

Appointment of Mr. Gilbert B. Daniels, State Market Director for the last year, to the chairmanship of the State Board of Control, should be highly pleasing to the people of Oakland. Mr. Daniels has been a resident of this city for many years and formerly was the publisher of an Oakland newspaper. He will succeed Mr. Marshall DeMotte, who has resigned after several years of able service.

The new chairman of the Board of Control takes up his duties at a time when ability and close attention to the details of the office are in strong demand. Under the scheme of reorganization of the government as laid down in the eight administration bills passed at the last session of the legislature, there will be a considerable shifting of the duties as heretofore distributed among the several bureaus and commissions, and as the central and directing unit of the new Department of Finance, the Board of Control will undertake several new responsibilities. It always has been the most important bureau of the State government, with the largest measure of power in directing the activities of the government.

Mr. Daniels may be expected to enter his new office with the same industry, wide knowledge and executive ability which he displayed in tranquilizing the affairs of the State Market Commission. He will try earnestly to give the State the fullest measure of service.

GOVERNMENT BY DISCRETION.

Governor Nathan L. Miller of New York, in explaining his refusal to accept the recommendation of a legislative act for the appointment of a new State commission, dwelt briefly upon a very obvious condition of the theory and tendency of government. He might have been talking to the people of California, so well does his observations fit the local record. He said:

"One of the great evils of the present day, in my judgment, is the tendency to create boards and commissions with the power to prescribe rules having the force of law either because of the moral compulsion back of such rules or because the standard is sufficiently prescribed so that the delegation of legislative power is constitutionally valid. Manifestly that evil will be magnified by the creation of extra-legal bodies to prescribe rules of conduct, for that substitutes personal government, government by discretion, for a government of law."

It has been apparent for over a decade in this State that the drift is away from actual government of law to government under bureaucratic discretion. We started out sincerely enough to regulate government function and define and limit governmental powers by law. The people generally still believe they have such a government.

But the bureaucrats find their activities unpleasantly curtailed by sticking to the safe, sane and ordained system of the forefathers. So new boards and commissions have been created, with large delegation of discretionary powers from the legislature. The boards and commissions make rules and, as Governor Miller points out, give them the effect of governing legislation by one means or another. Too often it happens that the tactics of the bureaus do not coincide with good morals or safe rules.

It would seem that the time has arrived, or nearly so, to call a halt on the adventures of the bureaucrats who chafe under statutory limitations. Sentiment is growing against their usurpations. And unless the bureaus themselves amend their ways the people will ultimately decree a return to the older way of government by law.

Evidently there is something to the theory of the splendid equilibrium of nature. San Antonio is maintaining a roost for some 35,000 bats and plans to provide accommodations for 250,000 of these creatures. Bats have all along been generally detested and abhorred, but San Antonio finds that they are a deadly enemy of mosquitoes and other insects of the air, so it had made friends with the bats. Recently an Oakland man called attention to the fact that since the general invasion of the Argentine ant the California flea has all but disappeared. Thus a brief for the Argentine ant which the busy housewife, with her powders and poisons, never would have thought of. Everything in the plan of nature seems to have a purpose, however costly accomplishment may appear to be in the judgment of the human inhabitants of the earth.

BUSINESS IN A FOG.

If Representative Longworth is serious about his resolution to have the new customs duties effective from the date on which the Ways and Means Committee reports the tariff measure to the House, he must have a very faint, not to say feeble, conception of the fundamental laws which govern business. Business can face with courage even a rocky future that is clear. It can manage to operate in some fashion or other on any basis that is certain. But the one thing that business cannot do is to navigate in a fog.

Importers could grope in no more hazardous adventure than a tariff fog, where nobody could offer to sell anything at a flat price for future delivery with an idea of what would be the cost of laying it down in this country. Nobody would dare to buy such imported goods for future delivery subject to whatever the tariff might turn out to be, for when he came to pay the duties in the final price settlement it might not him to a bankruptcy loss.

For the matter of that, under such circumstances domestic business transacted for the future would become a risk because neither the domestic manufacturer selling goods nor the domestic merchant buying them for the next season could know on what basis the foreign goods would compete with theirs.

And for years and years customs officials, lawyers, the courts and business houses would be expending incalculable time and money trying to settle the complexities, differences and damages growing out of such an impossible tariff situation.

Industry and business are slow enough now. Their one hope is for a better future. But if anybody could make industry and business more cautious about the future than they already are about the present it would be an indefinite, hazy foggy tariff, preventing anybody from forecasting the future.

Why is it that business sense cannot be applied in the halls of legislation to business matters?—New York

DECORATION DAY AND THE LEGION.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

Shall the ex-soldiers march on May 30 in uniform, or should they march in civilian attire? To the writer there is, and there can be, but one answer to this grave question. The soldiers returned from France, and those who served on this side of the Atlantic, should, wherever possible, march in uniform. Those who have worn out their uniforms, as some doubtless have in the unemployment of the last two years, will march as they can. But uniforms, with medals, decorations and insignia of officers, sergeants and privates, are necessary to differentiate and characterize in proper degree the returned ex-soldier marching in honor of their deceased comrades.

Thus only can the American Legion give distinctiveness and distinction to the occasion. Thus only can they show highest honor and consideration to their fallen comrades who gave the nation a winning, joyous sacrifice that American ideals might not perish from the earth.

Doubtless, the 150,000 draft evaders, whose names are now being published, may not like to see the uniform their coward and traitor hearts did not permit them to wear, but there is no more honorable apparel in the eyes of all one hundred per cent Americans.

The splendid old boys of the Grand Army of the Republic dig up and wear proudly, as well they may, the old blue uniforms. The world will be more lonesome when at last they cease from among the living! The proper attendant and contrast to the blue of the boys of '61 and '65 is the khaki of the boys of 1917.

To march in civilian clothes if they have the great war, as many as to make a custom of so doing could seem to imply that they were ashamed of the uniform. The uniform is more honorable now since it is now consecrated and hallowed by the lives of 100,000 heroes who sleep in soldiers' graves.

The public delights in seeing our ex-soldier boys marching in uniform, for it recalls the past with its sacrifices for right and truth, its glorious achievements and its crowning victory on foreign fields 3000 miles away. It pays tender tribute to the heroic dead, many of whom sleep their last long sleep awaiting the resurrection morning in a foreign soil—some of them in nameless graves. And so it will be a good and pleasant sight to see the ex-soldiers of the last great war, as many as can, march in uniform on Decoration Day. They wore the uniform in honor then, and they wear it in honor now. The American soldier, fighter for the ideals of a republican form of government and a Christian civilization, and his uniform is symbolic of those magnificent ideals. Then wear it.

E. E. GRINNELL.

THE DECORATION DAY OF TRUTH.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

Decoration Day draws near and perhaps in some hearts there lingers a doubt as to how to think of it, what really does it mean? On our thought of God, the loving Father-Mother of the Universe, and His creation, we depend our decision. Flowers are used on that day to decorate, in the truest sense, the living, not the dead. On page 508 of Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy says: "The only intelligence or substance of a thought, a seed, or a flower is God, the creator of it."

The very greatest authority I can quote on the eternity of all God's ideas is our revered Saviour, where he says in the Sermon on the Mount, "Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: And yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." Wise Solomon was arrayed in material splendor, but the lily was the emanation of God's will, no mortal hand wove its garment. "Wherefore, he saith to the grass of the field, which today is, and to morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of the little faith?"

Since God is Spirit, the clothing He gives us must be spiritual. Therefore, the dear ones who pass from our sight are being cared for by God, and though we cannot see them now, we, through His creative power, are in spiritual progression, will some day arrive at the place where we can see, hear, and speak with those same dear ones, even as Jesus did with Moses and Elias on the Mount of Transfiguration, for Jesus promised that what he did, we shall do also. This may seem transcendental, but through righteous effort and patience even that experience will be ours.

So we see that the sons and daughters of God cannot die, that flowers are the ideas of God used to beautify His creation. Let us not hesitate to use these beautiful gifts of God, Life, Love, I am so glad Love can never be separated from Life, and His love never changes notwithstanding how shaky ours may sometimes appear to be.

As we grow nearer to God in consciousness our love will become more firm.

Our American poet Whitman says in "Snow-bound":

Yet Love will dream and Faith will trust
(Since He who knows our need is just.)
That somehow, somewhere, meet we must.

Alas for him who never sees
The stars shine through his eyes—trees!
Who, hopeless, lays his dead away,
Nor looks to see the breaking day,
Across the mournful marbles play:
Who hath not learned, in hours of

The truth to flesh and sense unknown,
That Life is ever loved of death,
And Love can never lose its own!

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

A Pennsylvania lad is paying his way through college by selling angle worms, thus proving that if the colleges won't give you an education for nothing it can be wormed out of them some way.—Maysville Appeal.

When people worked ten hours a day, they had time to cultivate a backyard garden, but they could not possibly do it on the eight-hour basis.—Watsonville Pajaronian.

The president of the Chico Normal school, in endeavoring to impress upon the graduating classes of the high schools of this part of the state the value of the facilities which his school offers, is not only doing something for the school, but if the students take advantage of the opportunities offered, he is conferring more lasting benefit upon them.—Chico Record.

There is no questioning the fact that $2000 spent on a Humboldt county exhibit at Sacramento will return large dividends upon the investment. Exhibits from Humboldt county are distinctive, and have never failed to attract attention toward this part of the state. The cost of the advertising thus received is comparatively small.—Humboldt Standard.

The out-of-door amusement season is here at once, including picnics, Chautauqua tent shows, carnivals and death curve collisions.—Chico Enterprise.

RAILROAD COST PER UNIT.

The fact that railroad operating revenues showed a gain of some $35,000,000 during the month of March, thus turning a deficit of about $7,000,000 for February into a surplus of $28,000,000 for the following month, is distinctly encouraging from the financial standpoint.

It shows that the railroad situation is in hand and that there is vigorous effort to restore a balance between receipts and expenditures.

Let it be reiterated once more, however, that this showing does not mean that the railroad problem has in any way been solved. The restoration of a balance has been brought about by dropping some part of the employees, and perhaps in some measure abandoning undesirable or wasteful methods of work. It does not in any way indicate that a lower cost per unit of work done has necessarily been established. That can come about only as a result of the introduction of better adjustments between capital and labor and the recreation of an efficient basis of organization and management. This will not come to pass until there has been a reasonable revision of both wages and working conditions.

It is well to feel satisfaction at the improvement in railroad finances but not desirable to speak too positively in approval of the change in the situation until there is information regarding its basis. Economy which results from the temporary suspension of needed work may be costly in the long run.—New York Journal of Commerce.

About YOUR HEALTH

What Really Happens in Facial Paralysis or Palsy

By ROYAL E. COPELAND, M. D.,
Commissioner of Health, New York City.

You have seen an afflicted person who has one side of the face normal in its action, smiling or pouting, as the case may be, while the other side is absolutely blank, entirely devoid of expression. It is impossible to close the eye. The mouth is drawn to one side.

This condition is known as "facial paralysis" or "Bell's palsy."

It is due to paralysis of the facial nerve. The facial nerve is one of the twelve "cranial nerves," as they are called. All the cranial nerves, as the name indicates, have their origin in the brain. So the facial nerve begins back in the skull. It runs through the middle-ear where it is enclosed in a bony canal. Then it comes to the surface below the ear, spreading out in fan shape all over the face, forehead, eyelids, nose, lips and chin. The fibres of this nerve control the muscles of the face, eyelids and mouth. When it is paralyzed you can no longer move any part of that side of the face. The face is as fixed as if it were a carnival mask.

A nerve is not at all unlike a telephone wire. It will function so long as it is unbroken. If it is broken, it makes no difference where the interruption is near the instrument, away out on the line somewhere or in the central office. When once broken the electric current can no longer flow over it and no calls can pass over the wires.

So it is with the facial nerve. If there is a tumor inside the skull, in that part of the brain from which the nerve comes, the nerve is paralyzed. If there is an abscess and death of bone in the ear, so that the bony canal is broken through and the nerve pressed upon, there is paralysis. If a blow or other injury damages the nerve as it reaches the surface, it may cut off action.

Exposure to cold is a very common cause of facial paralysis. This is due to a localized inflammation of the nerve.

Mothers' Congress Favors Teachers' Tenure Bill

PLAN FOR FILM COMMITTEES IS GIVEN APPROVAL

San Diego Invites Delegates to Hold Next Meeting in That City.

By GEORGIA G. BORDWELL.
Arguing for it and against it for over an hour the backers and the opponents played veritable football with the teachers' tenure bill late yesterday afternoon during the last hours of the twenty-second congress of Mothers' and Parent-Teacher associations convention, before they endorsed a telegram to Governor Stephens asking him to sign it.

The bill, now awaiting signature, aims to protect the teacher against dismissal from unjust causes and to insure a feeling of permanency, according to Mrs. E. L. Coffey, San Francisco teacher, who secured a hearing before the convention to present it.

It provides for two years of probationary teaching, after which, if the teacher proves satisfactory, specific charges must be brought and proven before a discharge can be effected. There are five reasons for dismissal, and unless just cause for such dismissal is found the teacher is pretty sure to have a life job.

Mrs. J. George Short asked that Miss Lulu Shelton of Oakland explain the content of the legislation which she did.

SACRAMENTO OPTIMISTS.

The Sacramento delegation and the women from the third district were against it. For it stood the teachers' members of the P. T. A. and certain mothers. During the debate it was announced that the children of the water front schools had been waiting for the sixty guests who had signed up for a trip to the schools—waiting with their punch and their school made cakes with which to refresh their guests, for an hour and a half. Delegates who had signed were requested to generate the release the automobiles. Most of them went—including Mrs. S. F. Mack of Fair Oaks and Mrs. Lydia Lawrence of Woodland, who had fought strenuously against endorsement. The vote resulted in the endorsement of the bill—one hundred and three for—one hundred and one against. The telegram was sent last night.

The teachers' retirement salary bill presented also by Mrs. Coffey received endorsement.

MOVIE OPINIONS.

Only a handful of delegates remained in the Auditorium theater late yesterday afternoon to vote upon the resolutions presented to the twenty-second convention of the California Congress of Mothers' and Parent-Teacher associations. The result of the revision, which changed the convention to hours almost days of debate and effected a change in one or two words, reduced the annual dues by five cents and barred city and county superintendents of schools from active membership without dues, was the throwing out of the whole constitution with instructions to the revision committee to rewrite it and present it to the executive board for acceptance at its next meeting, which will probably be held in July. Not one word of the constitution is to be changed, according to Mrs. J. M. O'Connell, state parliamentarian, who mothered the re-writing; the content will remain the same, but it will conform to Robert's Rules of Order.

MOVIE DISPUTE.

Mrs. H. R. Archibald of South Pasadena and Dr. Jessie A. Russell again locked horns over the movies during the convention in resolutions. Mrs. Archibald moved to amend the resolution that the convention might go on record as favoring the immediate formation of better film committees in every association.

Dr. Russell still stuck to her point previously expressed that while she approved of better films, she would like to see the resolution go through as a mere expression of opinion and not a definite tying up to any program. Mrs. Archibald gained her point and the amendment was added.

SAN DIEGO INVITES.

San Diego City Federation issued an invitation for the 1922 convention. The congress meets alternately in the north and south. San Diego said it was the only city organizations inviting the mothers to take advantage of its superior facilities for entertaining them. Meanwhile in the lower Chico office the same inducements, but every delegate knew that it was after the 1923 convention. Chico made her plea that mothers in remote mountain districts of the north need the sun, air and education along child welfare lines that the convention can give.

A mass of unfinished business was either rushed through or shelved during the last fifteen minutes, the delegates meanwhile rushing out to the telephone to make

Clubwomen Found Students' Loan Fund For Mills

(Special to The TRIBUNE)

CAMP CURRY, Yosemite National Park, May 28.—A students' loan fund for Mills College was founded yesterday by the Emeritus Club of which Mrs. Annie Little Barry of Berkeley has been president during the past two years. The club membership includes in its personnel women who have served the California Federation of Women's Clubs which has been holding the twentieth annual convention here in executive positions.

In creating the fund which will be placed at the disposal of women students needing emergency assistance in Mills the clubwomen place themselves solidly behind the college. One hundred dollars was subscribed for the foundation, the amount to be increased.

Mrs. L. B. Hogue of Colusa was elected president of the Emeritus Club at the annual meeting. Mrs. Claude Leach of Walnut Creek, retiring president of the club, was named vice-president, with Mrs. Alfred McCullough of San Francisco, treasurer.

'LEARN-TO-SWIM' RECRUITS MANY

The "Learn" in "Learn to Swim Week" will soon be in the past tense, for Learn to Swim Week closes tonight. Reports from the various public baths show that a great many persons have taken advantage of the opportunity afforded by the movement to take free lessons in swimming.

Learn to Swim Week in Oakland is being observed under the auspices of the Oakland Chapter of the Red Cross. The movement is of national scope and reports from various portions of the United States show that there is a widespread interest being taken in the development of aquatic sports both as a means of exercise and pleasure and as a measure of protection of human life.

Of the several thousand lives lost by drowning in the United States last year, it is estimated that upwards of 400 could have been saved if the victims had known how to swim. It is hoped, through the inauguration of Learn to Swim Week, to cut down the number of deaths from drowning by several thousand each year.

Here is a list of the public plunges and free swimming lessons being held:

Cottage Baths—Every day, 10-12 a. m.
Idora Park—Every day, 11-12 a. m. & 5-6 p. m.

Contracts Awarded for School Buildings

Segregated contracts for the building of the Fremont high school gymnasium and the Laker school auditorium were let last night at an adjourned meeting of the Board of Education. Hardware bids were also accepted for the coming year and bids for athletic goods for the school playgrounds.

The awards were intricate and manifold. Seven firms won bids for furnishing the athletic supplies, among them being Spang's and the Maxwell Hardware Company. The latter also won one of the contracts for hardware.

The main job of altering the Laker school was awarded to P. W. Maurice, at $11,800. The Laker gymnasium main contract went to M. B. Hopper & Son for $23,800. E. E. Robertson won the Fremont gymnasium main contract for $35,000. The total Fremont job, with all the minor contracts for heat, light and so forth, will nearly reach $50,000.

Fred Warden won the contract for constructing the Fremont school at $27,600. Minor contracts will bring the total cost up to $40,000.

READJUSTMENT IS PLANNED OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

Provision Made for Affiliation of Other State Organizations On Application.

By EDNA B. KINARD.

CAMP CURRY, Yosemite National Park, May 28.—Readjustment of the California Federation of Women's Clubs was undertaken during the twentieth annual meeting which has just adjourned. In the new scheme of affiliation of other state groups with the federation is provided for upon invitation. The appointment of a paid business secretary, the employment of a public accountant and the business of budgeting the organization's expenditures are featured. One auditor will be dropped from the executive board following 1923. A business committee is authorized to select members to include the State president, two additional State officers and two appointees. State officers and district presidents under the plan are instructed to meet immediately following the conventions to outline definite programs of work for accomplishment of which the various department efforts will be directed.

The State of California was endorsed for its comprehensive plan in planting and caring for trees along the highways. The body of resolutions adopted, outlining the federation policy and accomplishment. However, the State Highway commission, the Landscape department of the University of California and the Forestry department are being urged to a more irregular scheme of planting and to include a fair proportion of native trees among its lists. The federation suggests oak for the valleys, sycamore for the streams, and redwoods for the higher altitudes. It would discourage the unnecessary planting in wooded spots.

PLEDGE PARK SUPPORT.

Pledges of support to legislation which will keep inviolate national parks from commercial exploitation were made. State laws to protect native wild flowers were endorsed. Study of forestry was urged. Appeal to the Federal and State government to preserve the redwood groves on the south fork of the Eel river in Humboldt county is made to President Harding, Congressmen and Governor. A petition to Governor Stephens to sign the bill appropriating $300,000 for California redwood groves was authorized. Adoption of the oak tree as the Federal emblem was endorsed.

Educational matters were given a prominent place in the body of resolutions. A minimum of a one-year course in home economics in the high schools and the scheme for home economics demonstrators were endorsed.

The Governor was urged to sign the educational bills passed at the last Legislature. The government thrift program was endorsed.

FILM PROTEST.

After declaring to exert its influence toward the securing of better films, the federation went on record favoring co-operation with producers and registering approval as well as disapproval of screen plays with local managers. Sex plays and undesirable scenes were discouraged. Copies of this resolution are being sent to California producers.

American composers and musicians will in the future be exploited if the program as outlined in the resolutions is adopted. Affirming that foreign composers and critics had too long dominated music in the United States, recognition to local composers, musicians and actors is petitioned for through patronage and club programs.

Literary conditions in the border towns between the United States and Mexico has caused to be sent to the executive of the northern district of Lower California a communication of the clubwomen of the State, calling upon him to exert his authority in a clean-up campaign. Reaffirmation of their belief in the enforcement of laws of the country, particularly the prohibition law enforcement, was made.

The Pastime Clearing House was endorsed.

"Cease to be locally minded," was the message which Mrs. Robert J. Burdette of Los Angeles gave to the convention. California, according to the "mother" president, owes its position of having the most perfect code of welfare laws in the United States to its men as well as women.

Prominent figures in the week's activities of the California Congress of Mothers and P. T. A. (Upper) MRS. ELTON R. BAILEY, San Jose, first vice-president, sixth district; MRS. DONALD R. GREEN, Sacramento, president, third district; MRS. JOHN PAGE HOPKINS, head of the home department, third district. (Lower) MRS. W. R. HONODEL and MRS. E. I. McPHERSON, outgoing and incoming presidents of the Chico High School, P. T. A., and boosters for the 1923 convention.

DEMONSTRATOR URGED.

A home demonstrator in every county and a volunteer service bureau in every community, Mrs. Burdette offered for the general federation goal. She urged the clubwomen to forget personalities and remember principles. Clubwomen of the nation are asked to sponsor the building of the Campanile and carillon in Washington, D. C., in a national tribute to the heroic dead. Already 24 Governors have declared that the legislatures of their State will co-operate in the movement launched by the Arts club of Washington. The monument, which will be placed on an elevated spot in the national capital, will be some five years in the building.

PRESIDENT TO VISIT.

Mrs. Thomas Winters, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, will be in San Francisco on the evening of June 6, according to announcement today. Dr. Mariana Bertola is arranging for her reception.

California Federation has a membership of more than 50,000 scattered among 600 clubs in all parts of the State, according to the report of Mrs. J. B. Stearns of Los Angeles, extension chairman. More than $4500 is reported in the endowment fund, which is ordered invested by the incoming board.

The final report of the credentials committee gave 614 women in official attendance upon the convention. This number represents little less than one-third of those who have been drawn into the valley by the annual meeting.

Dr. Milenko Vesnitch, Former Premier, Dies

PARIS, May 28 (By the Associated Press).—Dr. Milenko R. Vesnitch, former Yugo-Slav premier and minister of foreign affairs, died here today.

NEAR EAST FUNDS SPENT IN STATE

"Every Near-East Relief dollar, contributed in California, remains in California."

This is the plan being carried out by the State Near-East committee, operating from 333 Mills building, San Francisco.

Yesterday, Colusa county Near-East Relief supervisors reported collections in the sum of $1200, and Butte county $2000. These funds were immediately invested in Butte and Colusa county rice, this rice to be made a part of the Near-East Relief supplies to be sent overseas aboard the steamship Esther Dollar.

Fresno's report carried $800 for flour, new shoes worth $400; 400 pairs of worn shoes, and an additional ten tons of flour.

Relief forces operating in Richmond yesterday reported a $400 fund. At Napa a campaign is in progress for a fund for the purchase of prunes, this effort being under the direction of the clubwomen of the city, assisted by Near-East Relief Board Secretary P. J. McLaughlin.
